

What your prototype is designed for?

Prototype is designed for a personal portfolio website to serves as a platform to share my information and photos.

List of changes from previous design:

1. Removed animation concept for opening of letters
Reason: Tried to implement it, but it is too tedious to achieve the animation in Figma. Moreover, since Assignment 3 requires us to use HTML, CSS, Bootstrap to achieve what we have for Assignment 1 and Assignment 2, I decided to remove it by taking difficulty level into consideration.
2. Renovated the overall design for home page
Reason: Just a result of new ideas when I was doing the assignment, however the new design is somewhat still relevant to the wireframe in assignment 1.
3. Removed "My Blog" section and changed it to Gallery section
Reason: My previous assignment was feedbacked with design flaws in "My Blog" page, hence after taking this into consideration, I decided to change that section into a simpler and clearer photo section since it is also easier to implement in Figma, as well as for Assignment 3.

Interesting aspects that I took into consideration while designing

According to my plan and design in assignment 1, I have decided to design my portfolio website with an overall theme that is minimalist, sweet and to the point. Since assignment 2 enable us to add in colors to the prototype, I have taken a long time to choose a color that looks comfortable and appealing. Finally, I have decided to use a main theme color that is light lime green. This color also helps to enable a strong contrast with my other elements such as the D.I.Y cartoon avatar.

The D.I.Y cartoon avatar is created to fit into my “sweet” design principle and also a way to represent myself. I hope that when visitor first visited my website, the avatar as well as the general theme will make them feel welcome and warm.

When visitor first visited the home page, there will be an animation of a plane with my avatar sitting in it flying into the home page, this is an idea that I came out suddenly which I think it could be kind of interesting elements into the page, as well as fitting into the overall theme of the design of the home page.
